What I like to do outside of school

Outside of school, I like to do geocaching. Does anyone know what this is? If you don't it's basically treasure hunting with a GPS. The sizes vary from nano which is as small as 2 watch batteries and the biggest as big as a shoe box. There are about 1.4 million geocaches around the world and you have probably walked passed quite a lot. You can find travel bugs in some geocaches which you take but have to place in another geocache. You will need to take some small items like a key ring or things that you don't want anymore as you can swap them for other things in other geocaches. Also the people who put the geocache down have a note book in it so they can keep track on who has found it.

My previous school

My previous school was Brundall Primary School. I started in reception and never left that school. I really liked Brundall and my favourite teacher was Mrs Sutton who I had in year 5. I will miss Brundall but I know I will get along fine at Thorpe.

My best holiday

My best holiday was when we went to the new forest, near Southampton. We camped in a campsite full of ponies and cows. It was really fun and it had great countryside near by. A near – by village called Brockenhurst had the best, most delicious bakery in the universe!

My ambitions

What I want to do when I'm older is be a professional girls football player, but if i didn't have a chance for that I would like to run a restaurant with my friend Annalise Durant.
